Streamlining and combining processes for property transfer

- Streamlining and combining processes for property transfer is a good practice and a common reform feature.
- Over the past 5 years, one-stop shops for Property registration were implemented in high income economies such as Portugal and in low income economies such as Belarus and Burundi.

Burundi made it easier to transfer property by creating a one-stop shop for property registration integrating the services of the Municipality of Bujumbura, the Tax Authority and the Land Registry
